ATTACK ON FORD
MADE BY SAPIRO

Declares Belief Affidavits Were "Framed" To Keep Manufacturer
From Taking Stand.

Detroit, April 20.—(AP)—Declaration of a mistrial tomorrow morning was the inevitable ending of Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford, foreseen tonight when Sapiro and his chief of counsel, William Henry Gallagher, agreed that they could not oppose the part of the four-point defense motion alleging a woman juror had granted a newspaper interview.

The other three points, that the juror, Mrs. Cora Hoffman, misstated her husband's business, and that she had stated falsely she had no interest in the case, and that Mrs. Hoffman conversed with a "kid" Miller, who is alleged to have engaged in conversation with and to have been on friendly terms with the juror.

11 Jurymen Trial Refused.

Possibility of proceeding with 11 jurors should Mrs. Hoffman be declared ineligible vanished when Stewart Hanley, speaking for Ford counsel in the absence of the chief, Senator James A. Reed, pointed out that the motion had requested that the entire jury be dismissed.

"We could not, in fairness to all concerned, proceed with 11 jurors under that condition," he said.

Gallagher and Sapiro expressed their willingness to proceed with 11 jurors, and, if a mistrial was declared, to move for a new trial immediately.

Sapiro in an affidavit prepared for filing tomorrow morning as a part of the formal reply to the defense motion for a mistrial denied that he ever had spoken with any juror beyond the occasional exchange of greetings, that he ever had discussed the trial or any matter connected with it,
with or within hearing of a juror, or that he ever had suggested to any person that he communicate with any juror.

Defense Is Assailed.

"Dependent believe and alleges the fact to be that defendant's counsel have been using every means to delay or prevent the personal appearance of Henry Ford for examination defense before this court; and that the affidavit filed in this cause by the defendant's staff were made and framed in a conspicuous attempt to accomplish that purpose and to secure ground for a mistrial and thereby exhaust the resources of the plaintiff and delay or prevent the necessity for the appearance of Henry Ford," concluded the affidavit.

It developed that the allegations
first were laid before Judge Fred M.
Raymond April 7, when the Ford attorneys held a mysterious 25-minute conference with Judge Raymond.

In the affidavit of William Orth,

A. Austin, age about 50, shot and killed his wife, Parney Anderson Austin, age 30, and then ended his own

The double killing occurred at Mrs.
Austin's apartments on the 1300 block of Broad street.

Austin used a .32-caliber revolver.
The couple were alone at the time of the shooting. The cause could not be determined.

Austin left a note to his son, Barney Austin, who is believed to be somewhere in Tennessee. The note left was about financial matters only and was written today.

Mrs. Austin was from Greenwood,

Charter Election
Pressed Despite
Place in Primary

Advocates of New City
Charter Not Satisfied
With Place on Primary Ballot.

SPECIAL ELECTION
ASKED ON MAY 17

New Charter Proponents
Declare They Have No Authority To Withdraw Petition Now.

Following unanimous action of the subcommittee of the city democratic committee Wednesday afternoon in agreeing to place the proposed city manager charter election on the primary ballot May 25, it developed that pro-charter forces would not withdraw a petition calling for a special election, but indications were that they would attempt to force an independent vote on the issue May 17.

The stand of the citizens' charter committee, headed by Councilman Horace Russell, of the ninth ward, was revealed in a communication addressed to the subcommittee. The letter claimed that even if the subcommittee agreed to the primary date for the charter election, the committee could have no authority or power to withdraw a petition, filed in accordance with provisions of the law, without the consent of the 3,515 who signed the petition.

Withdrawal of the petition, filed Monday in council, is a condition precedent to putting the election on the primary ballot inasmuch as the law provides that it is mandatory on council to call an election within 30 days from the filing of the papers with council.

Action Was Surprised.

This action on the part of the pro-charter group came as a distinct surprise since Mr. Russell had asked council to request the subcommittee to place the issue on the primary ballot twice but that body held that council had nothing to do with the matter, and advised the pro-charter group to make its appeal directly to the subcommittee.

It also drew the fire of the opponents of the new charter and elicited attacks from several leaders of anti-charter forces.

Alderman William B. Hartsfield, one of the principal opponents of the new form of government, charged that the advisory committee "never intended to ask a vote in the primary and that their actions have been nothing short of a political maneuver intended to trick council and citizens of Atlanta."

"Harges" Political Play.

"The committee has just as much right to withdraw the petition and hold the election May 25 instead of May 17, as it had to offer not to file the petition," he declared. "All this is merely political play. City Attorney James L. Mayson ruled Wednesday afternoon that the committee could withdraw the petition at any time it wishes. Further, Mr. Russell offered to withhold the petition and never file it if council would ask the election on the primary ballot. Then in an effort to trick council, he comes before the committee with the flimsy and untrue excuse that he can not now break faith with the 3,500 voters who, he claims, affixed their signatures to the petition, by withdrawing it. I would like to know the consistency of his idea of keeping faith."

"He was perfectly willing five weeks ago to disregard signers of the petition in toto, and never file the paper making a special election mandatory.
Now he holds that he can not withdraw it to save the city $2,000, the cost of a special election, without the consent of every signer. He and other members of his committee are making a political play, but citizens of Atlanta will not be fooled. If the charter group forces a special election, they will feel the reaction of voters to such measures even more than they will in the primary vote, where the proposal is sure to be repudiated."

Vote of the subcommittee to put the election on the primary ballot was unanimous, the only provision being

MEXICAN TRAIN

PRIESTS LED BAND,
DECLARES CALLES

Bandits First Killed 50 Guards; Daughter of Oregon Is Believed
Among Passengers Slain

Mexico City, April 20.—(P)—Between 50 and 100 helpless passengers were slaughtered by a great force of revolutionaries or bandits who held up a Guadalajara-Mexico City train last night, after killing the train's entire escort of 50 soldiers. The bandits drenched the coaches with gasoline and kerosene and set them afire, and as the terrified passengers tried frantically to climb out of the windows to escape incineration, they were shot down. The slaughter took place near Limon, in the state of Jalisco.

Of recent outrages this is declared to have been the worst in Mexican territory. The attack came almost without warning. Suddenly the train was halted while passing through a desolate territory, and the attack some reports have it, was begun from 500 to 1,000 armed men. They made short work of the military guard;
then locked the doors of the coaches, applied the torch to the oil soaked wood, and by the light of the flames that instantly shot up, poured savage fusillades into the bodies of the passengers as they hung out of the windows in attempt to reach the ground.

First reports reaching Mexico City said that all the passengers had been killed. But President Calles later received information that about half of them had escaped. The presidential office also received reports that three or four Catholic priests and led the attacking party, characterized by the government as "rebels," numbering a little more than 200.

Railroad authorities were of the belief that the train carried from 100 to 200 passengers and their estimates were that between 100 and 150 persons were killed or injured.

President Calles' daughter, Concilia, who is the wife of an army officer, Colonel Ponce de Leon, reported among the dead or injured.
No Americans are known to have been on the train.

There is a belief current in Mexico City that the outrages was the work of revolutionaries, but the attack on the recent attack on a Laredo-Mexico City train to discredit the Calles administration as much as possible, both at home and abroad, and focusing fire on the government.

52,000 PEOPLE ARE MADE
HOMELESS AS RAGING FLOOD
SWEEPS MISSISSIPPI VALLEY

LOHENGGRIN JUMPS
TO TOP OF LIST
IN TICKET DEMAND

Edward Johnson To Wear
Costumes of Immortal
Caruso When He Sings
Here.

Wagner's immortal Lohengrin—that entrancing story of the lovable prince and the golden haired princess—forged to the front Wednesday among Atlanta opera goers. The ticket demand for Lohengrin, which will be sung Friday afternoon, April 29, was exceptionally large.

Charles Howard Candler, vice president and treasurer of the Music Festival association of Atlanta, attributes the demand for Lohengrin tickets not only to the splendid cast, but also to the intoxicating melodies of one of the most beautiful of all operas.

The wonderful basso, William Gustadson, will be King Henry. Lohengrin will be sung by Walter Kirchhoff, Florence Easton will sing Elsa of Brabant and Telramund will be taken by Lawrence Tibbett. Ortrud will be taken by Julia Clausen and the King's Herald by George Cebanovsky.
Gueppe Bamboschek will conduct the opera.

Famous Music.

Lohengrin is considered one of the greatest achievements of Wagner. It contains some of his finest music, including the prelude, the Swan music, Elsa's Dream and numerous other passages. Of course everyone is familiar with the Lohengrin wedding march.

Costumes worn by the immortal Enrico Caruso will appear on the stage of Atlanta when Edward Johnson sings during the approaching season of opera.

Mr. Johnson has just been the recipient of the most desirable gift from the standpoint of sentiment—of any operatic singer in the world today.

The widow of Caruso has presented Mr. Johnson with a number of the costumes from the wardrobe of the late husband. Made from rare old fabrics, satins and velvets, and in many cases hand-embroidered, the costumes are exceedingly beautiful.

One as Heirloom.

One costume will remain as a heirloom for Caruso's daughter, Gloria.
This is the Canio costume for Paglacci, in which Atlanta people have so often heard Caruso sing his world famous song.

The personality and golden voice of Rosa Ponselle, without discounting the merits of the opera, is making La Forza Del Destino ("The Force of Destiny") one of the most popular operas on the program of the 1927 season at Atlanta. It is the Friday evening program.

Not only does this opera bring to Atlanta the beloved Ponselle and the ever welcome Giovanni Martinelli, but among others, such new stars as Ina Bourska and the celebrated basso, Ezio Pinza.

In addition to the distinguished cast, the opera calls for incidental dances by the incomparable corps de ball, headed by such splendid dancers as Rita De Leporre and Lillian Ogden.

Two Widows

For Murder

Peggy Joyce Comes to Court
To See Sights of Sny-

BY SAM LOVE.

New York, April 20.—(United News.)—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, who gets rid of her husband with a bullet, came to court Wednesday to look at Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, who got rid of her's in a more ruthless manner.

As one blonde to another, the two widows—grass and sod—inspected each other curiously.

Both had at divers times been the victims of Cupid—both had come to realize the handicaps of monogamy—both were of about the same age.

But there the parallel ceased with a loud bang.

Ruth was on trial for her life, along with a lover, Henry Judd Gray, in dire straits because of their alleged disposition of Albert Snyder with a window weight.

Peggy was on hand to lend her sophisticated viewpoint on love-life in the suburbs to a no-doubt avid newspaper audience. There have been no window-weights in her cosmos. It is doubtful if there have even been bitter feelings.

God! I don't see how I'm going to stand much more. Nerves? Gosh,
I haven't got any left after what I've been through. And that's no secret.

Peggy has become a countess. Peggy

Racing Tides Hurdle

Into Wild Disorder.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE
NEWS NOT VERIFIED

Plunging Cataracts Drive Upon Levee and Continue To Inundate
North Little Rock.

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—Reports to national headquarters of the Red Cross tonight placed the number of Mississippi river valley flood sufferers at more than 52,000, who now are without homes.

At least 5,000 were reported some-less in Kentucky and Tennessee, 12-000 in Mississippi and 10,000 in Louisiana. T. R. Buchanan, stationed at Natchez, Miss., reporting the figures for that state and Louisiana, said 75 per cent of the refugees will require relief from the Red Cross.

"The homes of some have been under water for 30 days," he reported.
"I estimated the minimum duration of the period in which we shall have to provide rations for two months or longer, depending upon the duration of the inundation."

The Red Cross has made a public appeal for funds. It has already set aside $25,000 for flood relief operations as the initial contribution toward the fund. It has no idea how much in excess of that figure will be needed.

MENACE OF FLOOD
DISASTER INCREASES.

Memphis, Tenn., April 20.—(AP)— Menace of flood disaster in the lower Mississippi valley grew blacker tonight as Arkansas felt another scourge of the swelling waters, and as thousands of defenseless another state along the great river doubled their efforts to save lives and property in the fertile lowlands.

Hurdling the levee of the White river at Clarendon, Ark., the racing waters early today surged through that town of 3,000 souls and changed its streets into foaming whirlpools where boats, men, animals and swaying houses were tossed about in tragic disorder. Reports of heavy loss of life to tardy residents of the lower sections went unconfirmed until relief agencies could explore the stricken town.

Driven by a break in the Arkansas river a few miles northwest of Little Rock, the swelling floods charged down in a diminishing wall upon the town of Levy and moved on to increase the wide inundation in north Little Rock across the mad stream from the capital city.

The Little Rock municipal water plant was abandoned to the tyrant

MACHADO LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON

Key West, Fla., April 20.—(AP)—President Gerardo Machado y Morales, of Cuba, left for Washington Wednesday night in a special car, attached to the "Havana Special" train. Thousands of Americans and Cubans waved farewell to him as he left after a two-hour stay, following his arrival Wednesday afternoon on the steamer Governor Cobb, from Havana. While here, the Cuban executive hurriedly surveyed the partially completed Overseas highway which will be another link in bringing the United States closer to the "Pearl of the Antilles."

An audience with President Coolidge is set for Thursday, after which he will go to New York, where he will meet with representatives of the sugar interests in Cuba, with a view of discussion of curtailment of the sugar crop during the next season. President Machado carried a tiny Cuban flag in a pocket of his coat as he departed.

ELABORATE PLANS MADE FOR ATLANTA STAY.

Elaborate plans are under way for the reception of President Gerardo Machado y Morales, of Cuba, now en route from Key West to Washington, when he visits Atlanta May 5, W. W. Camp, commander of the Old Guard, announced Wednesday. Although Atlanta was placed on the president's return itinerary, it was not definitely known until Wednesday that he would visit Atlanta. This assurance was received by Mr. Camp in a communication from the Cuban ambassador at Washington.

Atlanta will be one of the only four cities in the United States which President Machado will visit during his present trip, although he has received official invitations from 75. It is believed that the friendly relations built up during the visit of the Old Guard to Havana in 1925 when they were guests at the palace, is responsible for the president's acceptance of Atlanta's invitation.

Governor Clifford Walker, the Old Guard and other civic organizations will participate in the entertainment program being formed for his 24-hour stay.

Former Atlantan Marooned Hours By Raging Floods

Marooned for many hours on a railroad embankment while rising waters swirled, menacing and threatened to sweep over the rails, was the thrill experienced Sunday and Monday by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heard, of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Mrs. Heard, who was Miss Emily Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dixon Robinson, of Peachtree road, Atlanta, before her marriage, was en route to Atlanta to attend the marriage of her sister, Miss Jennie Robinson, to Edward A. Thornwell, which event took place Tuesday night. She was accompanied by her husband and six-month-old son, Arthur, Jr.

"The flooded area of Oklahoma presented an appalling sight," Mrs. Heard said Wednesday. "Our train had proceeded more than half-way to Memphis when we ran into a veritable river. Telephone poles were almost entirely covered on each side of the railroad embankment and the water level was rapidly rising to the railroad bed.

"Our train was reversed for hours and we finally were compelled to detour by way of St. Louis, the trip requiring three days and nights rather than the 20 hours scheduled. It was a most impressive sight."

WATKINS TO URGE CHARTER PROPOSAL TO WOMAN VOTERS

Edgar Watkins, advocate for the city manager form of city government for Atlanta, will make the feature address at a mass meeting of the Atlanta League of Women Voters in explanation of the new charter proposed for the city today at 3:30 o'clock in the chamber of commerce.

John Hancock will also discuss the proposed charter before local business women at the chamber of commerce today at 5:15 o'clock.

Mrs. R. L. Teruan, president of the league, invites all interested to attend.

NEGRO BANDIT PAIR ROB GAS STATION OF $40

After forcing three men into a small room, two negro bandits robbed the cash register of a filling station at Boulevard and Houston street late Wednesday night, according to police reports.

Call Officers N. D. Cartwright and E. N. Ellis, who investigated, were told that the negroes forced R. A. Allred, manager of the station, G. T. Rogers, a customer, of 332 Pine street, and Pierce Perkins, negro employee, into the room and robbed the cash register of $40.

L. Morris, a grocer of 374 Humphreys street, reported to police that his cash register was robbed of $10 by three negroes early Wednesday night. Mr. Morris told Call Officers W. A. Adair and J. H. Craikshaw that his daughter, Bessie, was standing near the cash register and one of the negroes forced her to open it.

STATE DEPARTMENT LAUDED BY AUDITOR

Praise for the manner in which Miss Ruth Blair, head of the state department of archives and history, has administered the affairs of that department is contained in a report of an audit of the department submitted to the governor Wednesday by Sam J. Slate, state auditor.

Mr. Slate praises the work done by Miss Blair and expresses appreciation for the cooperation given his department.

The auditor also filed a report of his audit of the books of the state public service commission, which he said were correctly and accurately kept. Mr. Slate said there has been marked improvement in the bookkeeping of the public service commission since the last audit was made. Disbursements of the body for the year amounted to $95,467, of which $38,637 was for salaries. The expenses of the commission are assessed against the public utility companies of the state.

U. S. COURT HEARS GAINESVILLE PLEAS

It was announced Wednesday by Judge Samuel H. Sibley, who will preside.

No grand juries nor trial juries will be drawn.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLER HELD IN NEW ORLEANS

Announcement of the arrest of Elmer G. Anderson in New Orleans by agents of the department of justice was received here Wednesday through an Associated Press dispatch. Etheridge was sentenced to life imprisonment, but the supreme court of Georgia recently granted a new trial because one of the jurors in the trial was related to Etheridge's wife.

Judge J. B. Park of the Ocmulgee circuit, granted a change of venue in Jones county today, but the lawyers could not agree upon a county in which to hold the trial. Judge Park then designated Morgan county.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Los Angeles, April 20.—Investigation into the death of Ray Raymond, musical comedy star, resulted tonight in the indictment of Paul Kelly, New York motion picture actor, for first degree murder.

District Attorney Asa Keyes announced that the authorities demanded Kelly's trial for murder instead of manslaughter. Kelly is held at Hollywood police station on an accusation of inflicting fatal wounds in a fight with Raymond over Raymond's wife.

Widow Faints.
Mrs. Raymond, who is better known as Dorothy Mackaye, actress, collapsed twice in the grand jury room. After she fainted the second time, her jury recessed to await her reappearance before voting on an indictment. She and her negro maid, Ethel Lee, were the chief witnesses.

Blue Sunday Law Is Offered Florida House

Tallahassee, April 20.—(AP)—A group of measures of state-wide interest made their appearance in the house of representatives.

A general measure was passed forbidding the making, publishing, dissemination or circulating of any advertisement containing any untrue, deceptive or misleading statement, assertion or representation by any person, firm, corporation or association. The bill was certified to the senate immediately. A half dozen local bills passed.

Representative Getzen, Rushnell, was author of a blue Sunday bill to make unlawful the operation of any shows, theaters, circuses, carnivals, and the like, on the Sabbath. The bill also seeks to levy a 10 cent per sales tax on all admission fees for the amusements enumerated, the bulk of the proceeds to go to the county school fund. Religious, charitable, educational organizations and school shows are exempt, as are towns under 2,000 population.

Child Health Day.
Governor Walker Wednesday issued a proclamation designating May 2 as Child Health Day and urging its observance by schools, churches, clubs, communities and homes.

MARVELOUS MINERAL DISCOVERY BRINGS NEW HOPE TO SICK

STONE MT. MAN WALKS AGAIN

Rheumatism of 20 Years' Standing Vanished After Mineral-Tone Treatment.

Judge B. H. Davis, Steward of Methodist Church for 40 Years, Recommends Mineral-Tone.

JUDGE B. H. DAVIS.

A striking case of Mineral-Tone's effectiveness is that of Judge B. H. Davis, prominent citizen of Stone Mountain, Ga., and a Steward of the Methodist Church for 40 years, who now walks and is the perfect picture of health after enduring rheumatic misery for a score of years. Judge Davis tells his own story in the following letter to Mineral-Tone, Inc.:

"I suffered from rheumatism for 20 years, took medicine given by doctors all during that time. A flour man came along through my town and told me there was no excuse for my having rheumatism any longer. He told me about Mineral-Tone, said it wasn't a medicine but a pure mineral. I sent for one package, and after taking it about five weeks I was cured and told my doctor, 'Doc, I'm not sure but I think you have treated me for the last time for rheumatism.' I then started telling my friends about it and last year my friends bought between 75 and 100 packages. I took it first in March, 1924."

"I now recommend Mineral-Tone because it cured me of rheumatism and nothing else did. And I'm not saying it because I'm getting a nickel out of it, but because it did, and because I recommended it to other people for many other troubles and it cured them. I know three dozen people it has cured. Some people ask me, 'Have you got an interest in Mineral-Tone?' I tell them, 'Yes, I have a profound interest because of what it has done and can do for suffering humanity, and I can recommend it to anybody suffering from any blood troubles, rheumatism, eczema, indigestion, or as a blood purifier. Any one who wants to write me about my case or my friends' cases can do so.' I'll answer."

"Very truly yours,
"B. H. DAVIS.

Relief Offered From Rheumatism and Indigestion

A New Mineral Product Compounded in Nature's Laboratories Effects Amazing Cures.

Eczema and Other Skin Eruptions Resulting from Bad Blood Banished.

Your doctor will tell you that 90 per cent of our ills are caused by weak, thin, pale or impure blood. Your blood is your very life. It feeds and nourishes every part of the body. It visits every organ several thousand times a day. You can easily see, then, what happens when the blood becomes weak or impoverished. It can't nourish the body or throw off the poisons that rapidly accumulate. In a short while the whole system begins to run down. The complexion becomes sallow, eyes are lack-luster. The stomach is upset and no longer functions properly. Food is undigested. Poisons accumulate. Rheumatism often sets in. Such a condition is extremely dangerous, for the body is easy prey to almost any disease or germ.

Such a condition yields to the treatment of Mineral-Tone, for Mineral-Tone is a blood purifier and system builder, with equal success. Sufferers of many years' standing from Rheumatism and Indigestion, who have tried nearly every man-made medicine or concoction on the market, have been quickly and permanently cured—according to their voluntary testimonials—by Mineral-Tone. Thousands of people have regained their health and happiness through Mineral-Tone.

From the Son.
Gentlemen—This is to certify that I am the son of C. W. Graham, who was cured by Turkey Mountain Mineral-Tone. I was 21 years old. I only weighed 76 pounds and had been an invalid all my life and the doctors gave me up. Mr. W. F. M. Linsey, who was a friend of my father, had discovered this Mineral-Tone and had used it himself and told my father of it and gave him some for me to use. I began taking it and it cured me completely in a short time. I am now 48 years old and perfectly healthy. My father gave Mr. Linsey a horse in his gratitude and I took the horse to him.

W. W. GRAHAM.
Cathoun, Ga.

Years ago, when De Soto was traveling through the mountains of the South in this country, he was struck by the reverent and awe-inspiring attachment which the Cherokee Indians held for Turkey Mountain, near their capital city of Echota.

Since he and his cohorts were looking for gold and other ores—he believed that Turkey Mountain held some wealth of precious stones or other ores.

Not until he noticed the amazing vigor of the Cherokees, their alert bodies and minds and the absolute absence of sickness, imbecility or other defects among this marvelous tribe did he realize the full importance of their sacred mountain. He found that it contained a dark mineral, which on being steeped in water, provided a clear amber fluid which the Indians drank.

History bears out these facts—as well as the fact that the Cherokees were the foremost of Indian tribes. Sequoyah, one of their leaders, originated the only Indian alphabet and his statue stands in the Hall of Fame, Elias Boudinot, another of their number, used Sequoyah's alphabet to print the Cherokee Phoenix, the only newspaper ever printed in the Indian tongue. The Cherokees, themselves, gave credit for their physical and mental attainments to Mineral-Tone, which they called "The Gift of the Great Spirit."

Sufferers From Indigestion, Stomach Trouble, Rheumatism, Eczema, Boils or Any Disease Caused by Impure Blood, Promised Quick Relief.

Mineral-Tone, a Medical Sensation—Doctors and Scientists Amazed at Marvelous Results. A Product of Nature—Cannot Be Duplicated by Man.

AT LAST AVAILABLE TO PUBLIC UNDER NAME OF MINERAL-TONE

Amazing and welcome news from the medical world is word of a phenomenal new mineral, possessing powers that seem almost miraculous in the treatment of Indigestion, Stomach Trouble, Rheumatism, Eczema, or any other disease resulting from weak, thin, impoverished blood.

Cures that seem almost incredible have been effected by Mineral-Tone. Doctors are amazed at the way it goes right to the seat of the most obstinate trouble and removes it.

For years the best brains in the medical world have tried to find a remedy that would quickly purify and build up the blood, thus banishing 90 per cent of the ills common to mankind.

No Laboratory Can Duplicate It.
No satisfactory solution has been reached with any medicine made by man, but now with the discovery of Mineral-Tone, a natural Iron Tonic, has been found that purifies and enriches the blood in Nature's own way. Just as no doctor can manufacture blood itself, neither can any doctor or chemist manufacture Mineral-Tone. Only Nature can make blood, just as only Nature can make blood.

Builds Rich, Red Blood.
Your doctor will tell you that your blood needs plenty of Iron. Mineral-Tone is 75 per cent Iron. An ounce of Mineral-Tone contains eight thousand times as much Iron as an ounce of spinach, which is recommended by all doctors for building up the blood. Mineral-Tone is Nature's own food and purifier for the blood.

Mineral-Tone is more than a medicine. It is Nature's own tonic, only by Nature, untouched by human hands, it comes to us free from drugs or poisons; comes to us just as Nature compounded it.

Mineral-Tone increases vitality, restores health and energy to run-down bodies, as only a product of Nature can do. Mineral-Tone is more than 75 per cent Iron—and Iron, as all doctors know, is the greatest blood building and purifier man has ever known.

Word of Remarkable Cures Spreads Fast.
For the first time this wonderful mineral is available to suffering mankind. The stories of its remarkable cures have spread so fast, the demand has been so great, that a big company has been organized to make available to the public this amazing product of Nature.

Atlanta's may now secure Mineral-Tone. Arrangements have been made with Jacobs' stores and other good druggists to distribute this precious health-giving mineral.

No matter what man-made medicine or tonic you have tried without benefit, do not fail to take this opportunity to get back your health, vigor and vitality through Mineral-Tone.

History bears out these facts—as well as the fact that the Cherokees were the foremost of Indian tribes. Sequoyah, one of their leaders, originated the only Indian alphabet and his statue stands in the Hall of Fame, Elias Boudinot, another of their number, used Sequoyah's alphabet to print the Cherokee Phoenix, the only newspaper ever printed in the Indian tongue. The Cherokees, themselves, gave credit for their physical and mental attainments to Mineral-Tone, which they called "The Gift of the Great Spirit."

SAVED SON'S LIFE, SAYS CALHOUN MAN

Suffered From Heart, Dropsy and Liver Trouble; Doctors Gave Him Up.

"Your Mineral-Tone Saved His Life—It's a Godsend to the People," Says C. W. Graham

The power of pure blood to erase all bodily ills and the extreme gratitude which a father's heart bears for the saved life of his son are both strikingly illustrated in the letters received by Mineral-Tone, Inc., from C. W. Graham, of Cathoun, Ga., and later, from W. W. Graham, his son.

Additional interest is given the incident by the fact that Mr. Graham, the elder, insisted on giving a horse and saddle to the person who told him about Mineral-Tone, as a measure of his gratitude.

The two letters tell their own story most dramatically.

From the Father.
Gentlemen—Your Turkey Mountain mineral cured my son in one month's time of a complication of heart, dropsy and liver trouble. After twelve years' standing, doctors gave him up. Your Mineral-Tone saved his life. It's a Godsend to the people. I am sending you one of my best horses to show you my appreciation of what it did for my boy. I hope you can use it to carry this wonderful Mineral-Tone to some one else who needs it.

Yours very truly,
C. W. GRAHAM.

From the Son.
Gentlemen—This is to certify that I am the son of C. W. Graham, who was cured by Turkey Mountain Mineral-Tone. I was 21 years old. I only weighed 76 pounds and had been an invalid all my life and the doctors

"We are so sure that it will produce beneficial results in any condition caused by bad blood, which is responsible for so many of the ills of mankind, that we guarantee it unconditionally."

"Anyone who uses a package of Mineral-Tone, according to directions, and who is not satisfied that they have received unusual benefits, can have their money back without question."

Last of 'Young Marooners'

.. Captain Goulding Only Surviving Romance Character ..
Now 83, Visiting Atlanta

Captain Lloyd Goulding, commander of the N. B. Forrest camp, United Confederate Veterans, but better known as the "last of the young marooners," is spending a week with relatives in Atlanta on his return from the Tampa reunion to his home in Chattanooga.

Captain Goulding gained the sobriquet of the "last young marooner" because he is just that. "The Young Marooners," a child's romance, read for more than three generations in every English-speaking country, was written by Captain Goulding's father, Frank Goulding, near Augusta, Ga., on the life incidents of three Goulding children and two of their playmates, woven into a fictional background. The youngest character in the book and the only surviving one was inspired by Captain Goulding.

The book has gone through so many editions that five different sets of plates and engravings have been worn out. Many of these editions are now sought after by book collectors, and among those brought into the office of The Constitution by Captain Goulding Wednesday afternoon was a copy of the eighth edition, printed in 1863 and known as the first Confederate edition. The book was said to be worth $500.

Captain Goulding is a native of Liberty county, Ga., is 83 years old, and besides being the oldest living commander of the oldest existing Confederate camp and the surviving character of a famous book, he is associated with numerous other historic incidents. Captain Goulding had with him Wednesday a dressing case made by Jefferson Davis by his wife and containing two ivory-handled razors and a bottle opener, a walking cane

The corporation is to conduct a banking and trust business. Mr. Sims, who is chairman of the board of directors of the new institution, stated Wednesday night that opening had been somewhat delayed on account of certain negotiations

LOCAL STREET CAR MEN WIN PRAISE

E. E. Wadbrook, safety supervisor of the Maryland Casualty company, of Baltimore, Md., was principal speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Atlanta Safety council, Wednesday at noon at the Ansley hotel.

Mr. Wadbrook is said to be one of the best known safety experts in the country. He spoke at length on the various phases of safety work. He also praised the service and platform men of the local street railway company and stated that the men were the most courteous and thoughtful he had met in his travels throughout the country.

Mrs. Tom Brooke, representing the Atlanta Woman's club, outlined a contest which will be held among the various school students in the city for the best list of "do's" and "don'ts" of safety. The contest will open on April 25 and continue through May 7. Cash prizes will be awarded the winners. A. L. Belle Isle, prominent Atlanta business man, stated that the Black and White Cab company would be glad to contribute $10 for prizes.

A. A. Jamison, head of the Boy Scouts of America in Atlanta; W. M. Nichols, of the Ninth Ward Civic association, and Mrs. E. W. Pegram, of the Kentucky club, were appointed representatives from their organizations to cooperate with the safety council.

YALE ALUMNI ATTEND DINNER
 AT CAPITAL CITY

Following out the wish of President James Rowland Angell, that all Yale alumni associations meet on April 20 for the dual purpose of a get-together meeting and to hear several noted speakers talk over the radio concerning the proposed plan to raise $200,000,000 for Yale university, the Yale Alumni association of Atlanta held a dinner Wednesday evening at the Capital City club.

The local meeting was most enthusiastic and while talk of finances was not indulged, the spirit of these present showed that when the drive for funds is made, the Atlanta chapter will respond generously.

The local gathering was of an informal nature more than a business meeting. No subscriptions were taken and none asked. It was reported that the matter will be taken up at a later date. About 25 Yale alumni, including Morris Brandon, president of the local chapter, attended the dinner.

A. A. Jamison, head of the Boy Scouts of America in Atlanta; W. M. Nichols, of the Ninth Ward Civic association, and Mrs. E. W. Pegram, of the Kentucky club, were appointed representatives from their organizations to cooperate with the safety council.

MANY TO TAKE PART IN WEEK OF MUSIC

The list of individuals and organizations planning to take part in observance of national music week, May 1 to 8, has been increased considerably during the past few days, according to an announcement by Mrs. Theodora Moran-Stephens, musical chairman of the woman's division of the chamber of commerce, who will supervise all the activities of the week.

A special feature of the week will be the radio concert to be given May 4 by the Margaret Hecht vocal studios. Another radio program has been scheduled by the Sears-Robuck company. A number of ministers are planning special musical programs in their churches, including J. G. Patton, College Park Presbyterian church, J. A. Williams, East Point Presbyterian church; S. O. Harris, College Park Methodist church; Adiel Jarrett Moncrief, Jr., Avenue Baptist church, and Alton O'Steen, organist of the First Christian church. Harold P. Harper, composer-pianist, will give a concert at the chamber of commerce.

Other cooperating organizations, not previously announced, include the College Park Music club, Atlanta Conservatory of Music, Morgan Stephens conservatory, Atlanta Junior Symphony orchestra, Boys High School orchestra, Girls High School Glee club, Hoke Smith and Dexter Junior High schools, the Oakland City, English Avenue, Adair Street, Georgia Avenue and Moreland Avenue Grammar schools.

A statement issued Wednesday by the Rev. William J. de Bardeleben, pastor of the Grant Park Methodist church, "emphatically denied the allegation" credited to Judge Lindsey in his address here Tuesday night to the effect that clergymen generally are laboring under a "colossal ignorance."

MINISTER RESENTS
 LINDSEY CRITICISM

A statement issued Wednesday by the Rev. William J. de Bardeleben, pastor of the Grant Park Methodist church, "emphatically denied the allegation" credited to Judge Lindsey in his address here Tuesday night to the effect that clergymen generally are laboring under a "colossal ignorance."

In particular, with regard to supposed ministerial ignorance on the marriage question, the pastor's statement dwells. "From years of study on the subject," the Rev. de Bardeleben states, "I find that our present systems of courtship and marriage are the culmination of a long evolution process."

Pointing out that clergymen can do much to prevent marriages that seem foredoomed to go on the rocks, the minister said, "Some time ago a 50-year-old 'rough-neck' requested me to marry him to a girl of 14 years, and could not understand why I would not marry them, since he had paternal consent and a license for the purpose. I have refused to join scores of such men who seemed bent on a 'try-out' with some unsuspecting girl," he said.

INDIAN SPRINGS CLUB HOLDS CLEAN-UP DAY

Indian Springs, Ga., April 20.—(Special).—Seventy per cent of the residences of Indian Springs have been repainted as the result of the activities of the Indian Springs Civic league, a body which comprises over 85 per cent of the women of the small community. Spurred on by civic pride they gave over all day Tuesday to a clean-up day. Sidewalks were scraped and the grass and weeds carted away. All debris and signs were removed. Signs were taken from off trees and posts and bill boards carted away, except those of local merchants who have repainted them. Dead trees were felled, and unsightly stacks of dead wood burned.

Cooperating with the Civic league, Mr. Miller, in charge of the state road crew, built guard rails to the approaches to the bridge over Big Sandy creek, and repaired culverts and edged up the road.

The women have caused direction signs to be placed at advantageous places to direct visitors to the springs and points of interest.

The Civic league holds monthly community meetings and the next activity will be to clean up the cemetery preparatory to Memorial day exercises.

DEANS WILL CASE TO CLOSE FRIDAY

Attorneys for Frank Deans, Yale student, are expected to test their case shortly after noon today in Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court in final litigation to secure probate of the will of the late Robert E. Deans, wealthy Atlanta broker, in favor of their client as the only legal heir.

The hearing, which opened Monday, was featured Wednesday by testimony to prove the legitimacy of young Deans and to show that executors were attempting a fraud in order to exclude the college student from any proceeds of the estate.

Attorneys for the defendants, W. O. and Charles G. Deans, tested their case Monday after introducing evidence to prove the merits of the will. Rebuttal will begin this afternoon at the afternoon session and will continue to consume the entire day Friday.

Young Deans brought suit to set aside judgment of probate of the will on the grounds that the Atlanta broker was mentally incapable of making a will at the time the document was drawn; that undue influence was brought to bear on Mr. Deans by relatives and that he is the son and therefore the only legal heir at law to the estate valued at approximately $500,000. The youth was not mentioned in the will.

Representing young Deans in the litigation are Attorneys H. B. Brown, Ed A. Stephens and Joe Ewing, and the defendants are represented by the law firm of Dillon, Calhoun and Dillon, and Nathan and Lowry Arnold and Ed Hill.

MISSIONS' SPEAKER TELLS MEXICO 'TRUTH'

E. W. Smith, of Nashville, Tenn., executive secretary of the foreign missions body of the Presbyterian church, spoke on "The Truth of Mexico" Wednesday night, at the Morning-side Presbyterian church, when the annual spring meeting of the Atlanta Presbytery was concluded. The speaker's address was based upon recent experiences in Mexico.

Dr. M. N. McKay, chairman of the foreign mission committee, who presided at the final session, delivered the annual report of his committee's work. Among the speakers of the morning and afternoon sessions were the Rev. William Hick, superintendent of the home missions; S. E. Thomas, Dr. J. S. Lyons, Elder J. E. Kirk and the Rev. J. W. Anderson, of Hapeville. The Rev. Harold Shields opened the Wednesday session with the devotional services, while the Rev. Winde H. Boggs presided. "The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper."

$500 Coca-Cola Gift Completes Park Pony Fund

Atlanta youngsters will have at least 20 Shetland ponies to ride during the summer in Piedmont and Grant parks, it was announced Wednesday night, after the Coca-Cola company notified Mayor L. N. Ragsdale that it will give the remaining $500 necessary to purchase the ponies.

The Georgia Power company in a letter Wednesday, from Preston S. Arkwright to Mayor Ragsdale, enclosed $500 and offered another $500 with which to purchase the ponies. L. H. Beall, general manager of the Sears-Roebuck company, has offered voluntarily to furnish saddles, bridles and blankets for the ponies.

The ponies will be stabled in the two parks and a small charge, sufficient only to cover the cost of their upkeep, will be made for their use, it was announced.

Mayor Ragsdale expressed appreciation at the generous response of the three companies.

POSSIBLE RAINS, CONTINUED WARM. FORECAST TODAY

Possible light rains late Thursday night with little change in prevailing summertime temperatures is the prediction issued for Atlanta and vicinity by C. P. Heymann, weather chief. Clear skies, however, are seen for the city during the greater part of the day, accompanied by gentle southerly winds.

Wednesday's temperatures ranged from 67 to a high mark of 86 at mid-afternoon, while today's should vary little from these figures, the forecaster stated. Wednesday's brilliant sunlight glinted on straw hats and sun-tanned noses, while electric fans hummed within business establishments of the town.

SENATOR SCHALL IS EXONERATED BY SENATE BODY

St. Paul, Minn., April 20.—(P)—A special committee of the Minnesota state senate tonight exonerated United States Senator Thomas D. Schall of charges of violating the corrupt practices act in his 1924 campaign. The finding adds the indorsement of the senate committee to the decision of the United States senate, which last winter threw out the contest for former United States Senator Magnus Johnson, a farmer-laborer. Senator Schall is a republican. The committee's report was introduced in the senate tonight and laid on the table until Thursday.

GAS CONFERENCE TO CLOSE TODAY

With election of officers for the coming year, the Southern Gas association will close its three-day conference here at noon today. A banquet at the Biltmore hotel Wednesday night attended by several hundred closed the social end of the conference.

Outstanding in Wednesday morning's session was an address by Professor W. J. Huff, head of the gas engineering department of Johns Hopkins university. This unit, the only one its kind, will graduate 17 gas engineers in June. Professor Huff stressed the fact that gas is the oldest public service and commodity in the country, pointing out that it was introduced in 1816.

Charles Leech, superintendent of the Macon Gas company, discussed the technical aspects of new types of gas meters and their bearing on the industry and consumers. H. M. Pier, of the Chicago research bureau, discussed modern methods for washing gas and keeping it free from impurities.

The afternoon was given over to golf and other diversions for the delegates and no business session was held.

The final meeting of the conference today will be addressed by Edmund S. Dickey, of Baltimore, a director in the association, G. L. Schlatter, of the Jacksonville Gas company; O. H. Reynolds, Chattanooga Gas company; H. M. Pace, South Carolina Power company, and Thomas F. Kennedy, of New York, also will be speakers on the program.

Use Your Head; Get Your Constitution Insurance

"Use your head!" How often you've heard that advice given. Then why not try it yourself?

You read every day in the newspapers of horrible traffic accidents that leave death and suffering in their wake? You know the accident wave is growing everywhere. You know you can't avoid accidents—the other driver threatens you.

Then why not insure your own income against abrupt halt and your family against financial want if you should fall victim to the scourge? You can do it cheaply and efficiently.

The Constitution offers you and all its readers the famous $7,500 travel accident policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance company of Chicago, an old and reliable company which already has paid more than $200,000 on claims of Constitution policy-holders.

The price is only $1.25 per year, a fraction of a penny a day. The policy provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain specified accidents; heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the accidents set forth in the policy.

A wreck of trains, a crush of automobiles, the crushing wheels of a speeding car, a burning building may leave you dead or maimed today.

Don't take chances. Don't delay. Watch for advertisements appearing regularly in this paper which supply full details of the unparalleled protective offer.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 70 at $1.25 per policy per year. of-town carrier, or dealer, paying for the paper weekly, monthly or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Modes of the Moment

THROUGHOUT the entire fashion world... Paris and New York... our buyers are in constant touch with the creators of feminine apparel.

Close observers, shrewd buyers... with a nose for style and a keen sense of values, they keep this store supplied from day to day with the most exquisite finery that touches the American shore.

Our affiliation with Macy's of New York, whose purchases are greater perhaps than any other single retail establishment on this continent, gives us advantages in buying that no other store in the South enjoys.

As you gaze upon this marvelous array of modish apparel and realize that the talent of leading designers both of Europe and America have contributed to this exposition of frocks and gowns, you will then comprehend the importance this ready-to-wear department is to women who aspire to social recognition.

Style is, of course, the predominant note in women's apparel... glorified fashion, as it were, but it is just one of several attributes when serving thousands of women in different stations of the social realm.

It is our aim—our purpose—to place within the means of the masses the most desirable and authenticated styles obtainable, so that the woman of the home who wants a simple house frock, or the business girl or woman who must exercise economy, will find in this ready-to-wear department large assortments at very moderate prices.

In other words, this is a cosmopolitan store of metropolitan proportions, with resources and facilities at our command that enables us to secure merchandise from sources not always available to others... and at prices which are perforce substantially lower.

The tremendous space occupied by our ready-to-wear department, abundant natural light, beautiful display fixtures, comfortable chairs and settees and the privacy of the most exquisite fitting rooms, provides a degree of comfort and satisfaction in shopping here that is not had at other stores.

On the same floor are the juvenile, misses, children and infant departments, so that you can step from one to the other when selecting outfits for all members of the family.

For the Opera We have provided the most gorgeous array of wraps and gowns ever assembled in an Atlanta store. The woman who seeks the finest and most exclusive evening apparel will find it here.

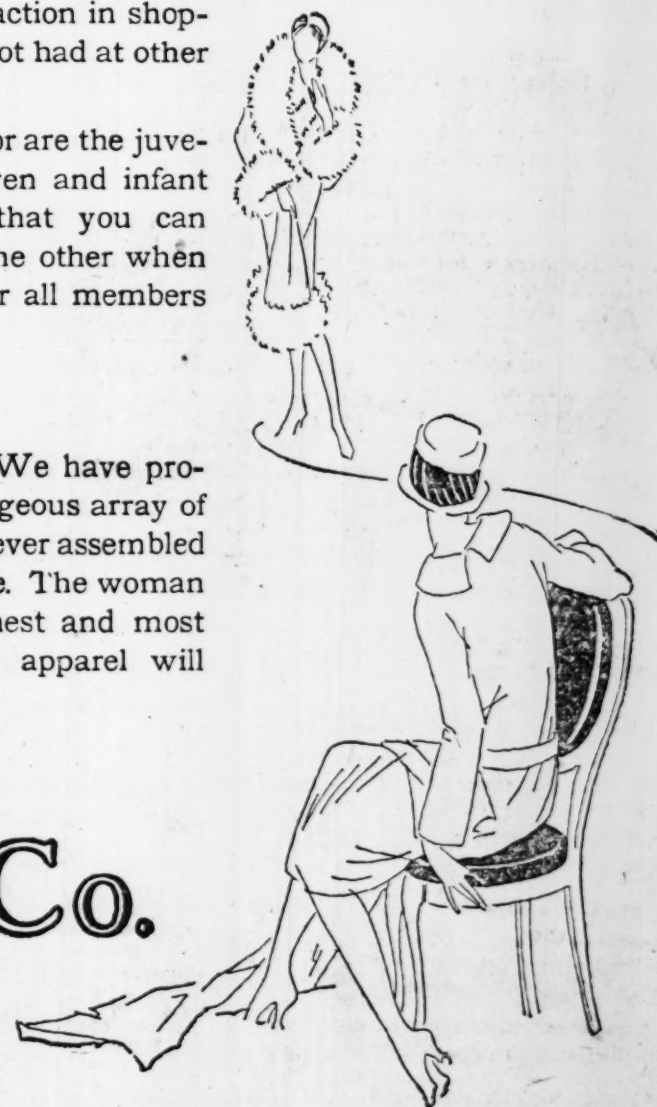

THERE is something to conjure with at this time of the year, for perhaps at no other season is a woman's style-interest more keenly aroused—in the new colors, the new fabrics, the new motifs.

Fickle fortune lays her hands on new fashion fancies that we have been fortunate enough to gather here for an authentic exposition—interpretations that tell the trend of a new mode in frocks, wraps and gowns are here assembled for your inspection.

FILE WRIT TO FREE ACCUSED AUTOIST

Habeas corpus proceedings seeking to secure the release of W. M. Heatley, alleged to have been the "hit-and-run" driver who struck and almost instantly killed Gladys Mae Lilly, 7 years old, on Gordon road last Saturday, was filed before Judge G. H. Howard in Fulton superior court Wednesday.

The petition, which avers Heatley is being illegally detained in Fulton Tower and is being held without warrant or indictment, was filed by Attorneys L. W. Camp and the law firm of Hewlett & Dennis. The prisoner was denied bond by Judge Howard Wednesday following hearing on an application filed in Heatley's behalf by Attorney Sam Hewlett, Assistant Solicitor John H. Hudson brought out at the hearing that Heatley's case was to be presented to the Fulton county grand jury at its Friday session, with the request that an indictment charging murder be returned against him.

Judge Howard set hearing on the habeas corpus proceedings for this morning before Judge Pomeroy. During the hearing on the application for bail, county police revealed for the first time their evidence against Heatley, declaring that they had an eye-witness to the accident who would identify Heatley as the driver of the machine which struck the young girl. The police also said that they had circumstantial evidence in the form of strands of hair found on the fender of Heatley's machine which are said to match in color the child's hair.

SOLDIER-POET SPEAKS TO WRITERS TONIGHT

Professor Donald Davidson, of Vanderbilt university, soldier-poet-teacher-editor, is to address the Atlanta Writers' club Thursday evening, April 21, 7 o'clock, in the banquet hall of the Atlanta Woman's club.

Professor Davidson served in the army over two years, most of the time as first lieutenant, 324th infantry, 81st division. His first book of poems, "An Outland Piper," was published in 1924 by Houghton Mifflin company, who will bring out his second book, "The Tall Men," this fall. He has taught in the high schools and preparatory schools of Tennessee for several years and is now assistant professor of English at Vanderbilt.

For the last three years Professor Davidson has been literary editor of The Nashville Tennessean, editing a book page and writing a personal column, "The Spyglass," which is a weekly feature in a number of southern papers.

VITAPHONE COMES TO METROPOLITAN FOR MOVIE FANS

"Miracle diet"—wonderful to tell. The musical picture has come, the talking, singing moving picture, the picture that synchronizes sight and sound. The picture that hears and sees. In this age of marvels the most marvelous thing is yet to come. The name of it is the Vitaphone. It will be seen soon at the Metropolitan, where it is now being installed. The Vitaphone is a mechanical apparatus that borders on the miraculous.

It shows Al Johnson, for example, crooning in golden ballads, and he is heard at the same time—simultaneously, perfectly synchronized. A great symphony orchestra goes into action before the eyes and is heard as if its very presence were there in the theater.

It is even more fascinating than listening and seeing the actual orchestra—there is the added fascination and wonder of man's supreme achievement in creating the Vitaphone.

The Vitaphone has thrilled New York and Chicago. It will give Atlanta a new sensation.

Milton C. Work's Pointer On How To Play Bridge

(Milton C. Work, the international bridge authority, will answer your auction bridge questions. A stamped self-addressed envelope must accompany each request for replies.)

The pointer for today is:
A FIVE-CARD SUIT HEADED BY ACE-KING SHOULD BE BID WITHOUT SIDE STRENGTH. BUT A FIVE-CARD SUIT HEADED BY ACE-QUEEN-TEN SHOULD NOT.

The four Dealer's hands given yesterday were:

No. 9
A-K-10-4-3;
J-10-7;
10-6-5;
3-2

No. 10

3-2

No. 12
A-K-4-3-2;
4-3-2;

3-2

My answer slip reads:
No. 9 Dealer should pass.
No. 10 Dealer should bid one Spade.
No. 11 Dealer should bid one Spade.
No. 12 Dealer should bid one Spade.

My reasons in support of these declarations are:
No. 9. An initial bid announces two quick tricks or more than the equivalent; that is, either Ace-King, two Aces, on Ace and a King-Queen, two King-Queens, or greater strength. In this hand there is no second trick and, therefore, a pass is the only sound declaration.

No. 10. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 11. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 12. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 13. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 14. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 15. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 16. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 17. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 18. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 19. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 20. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 21. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 22. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 23. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 24. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 25. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 26. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 27. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 28. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 29. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 30. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 31. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 32. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 33. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 34. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

No. 35. The Spade suit contains five cards headed by Ace-King. With two quick tricks in a five-card suit, it should be bid.

It should be named—no matter how weak the remainder of the hand may be.

No. 11. The Spade suit is short, so it should not be bid; the only long suit is too weak to hold; without three suits stopped No Trump is not advisable unless the hand has two short suits containing four or more quick tricks; therefore it is a pass.

No. 12. A four-card suit headed by a King-Queen-Ten is a sound bid when accompanied by a side Ace. In this case, the accompanying Jack holds strength.

Today's hands are supposed to be held by North (Third Hand), South (Dealer) having bid one Heart, and West having passed. The score is love-all, and the question is what North should declare in each one of the four cases.

Acrostic Birthday Sonnet To Edwin Craighead, Editor Mobile Register.

Early and late, he fully filled his place!
Register's staff, fast mounting triumph's stair,
With modest pride maintaining rapid pace!
Impressed, at last, into editor's chair!
No trifling goal to win, in so brief time.

Coveted, much, because—proud goal worth while!!
Revered because—its task might prove sublime.
Arrayed against fraud and might of civic guile!
I, with all friends, congratulate him now:
Give him glad praise and grateful acclaim, too.

His faithful toil, success will e'er bestow
Encomiums deserved for service true,
Aye, readers all, on this his natal day
Delight to wish him happiness alway.

EAST SWELTERS IN HEAT WAVE, FIRST OF YEAR

New York, April 20.—(United News.)—The east is sweltering under the first heat wave of the year. All warm weather records for April were shattered Wednesday when the mercury climbed into the nineties in New England, with hot weather extending on down the Atlantic coast. Street thermometers in Hartford, Conn., and New York city registered as high as 92 degrees. At 3 p. m. official readings in Manhattan were 88. Late in the afternoon the hot south-west wind shifted to the north and the weather bureau predicted it would be much cooler Thursday.

NEW TRIAL PLEA FOR WOMAN HEARD BY SUPREME COURT

Arguments for and against a new trial for Mrs. Lillian L. McKie, under life sentence in Richmond county for the slaying of her husband, George A. McKie, last July, were heard before the Georgia supreme court Wednesday.

Ben E. Pierce, attorney for the defense, contended that five letters introduced by the state at Mrs. McKie's trial were for the purpose of prejudicing the minds of the jury. Two of the letters, he said, were written by Mrs. McKie to her husband and three to W. M. Smock, an Aiken, S. C., attorney, with the view of engaging his services in connection with same litigation. The letters, he said, were obtained from W. H. McKie, temporary administrator of the estate of the slain man.

The principal grounds for a new trial are the contentions that the letters were privileged communications between husband and wife and between attorney and client and were irrelevant, and not in impeachment of anything the defendant said in her statement.

Mr. Pierce was followed by John M. Graham for the state. The state also was represented by Solicitor General George Hains of the Augusta circuit and William H. Howard.

Ten Men in State Doomed As Supreme Court Upholds Georgia Electric Chair Law

Unanimous Decision Reached by Judges Which Defines Law and Warden's Powers.

The supreme court Wednesday upheld the constitutionality of the electric chair act, passed three years ago by the legislature, and as a result ten men now held in Georgia jails under death sentences will be electrocuted as soon as respective trial judges re-sentence them as required by law. In a sweeping decision the supreme court decided that any warden at the state prison is qualified to execute a condemned prisoner under the law.

The decision was rendered in the case of Mell M. Gore, barber, convicted of complicity in the killing of W. H. Cheek, Buckhead grocer, during the Christmas holidays in 1925.

Contentions by Gore's attorneys and also similar contentions made by attorneys for John Howell, Bibb county, also condemned to electrocution by the law substituting the electric chair for the gallows provided that the warden of the state prison should supervise the execution and that Captain B. H. Dunaway, superintendent of the state prison farm, was not a warden qualified under the law to execute prisoners. In decisions in the Gore case and the Howell case handed down Wednesday, the supreme court ruled that Captain Dunaway is a qualified warden and that any warden at the state prison farm is qualified under the law as an executioner.

The decision of the court upholds the contention of the state prison commission, that Captain Dunaway is both warden and superintendent, as he holds commissions for both positions issued by the commission. The men who will be executed unless the governor interposes in their cases following the decision of the court are Mell M. Gore, Fulton county; John Howell, Bibb county; Oscar Mars, Ben Hill county; Julius Ross, Cobb county; Lee Chambliss, Barrow county.

ly: J. A. Swain, Bibb county; John Rounsaville, Chattooga county; Cellus Stewart, Early county, and Henry Warren, Miller county.

Justices James K. Hines, in writing the opinion of the supreme court, said of the Pennsylvania supreme court, he agreed with Justice Fletcher, that "grammatical niceties should not be resorted to without necessity." He said that the word "penitentiary" in the act means in this state any place where felons are sent to be confined at hard labor by authority of state laws. He said work on roads constitutes a state penitentiary and that there may be penitentiaries in counties. He ruled against the contention of attorneys for Gore that the word "penitentiary" does not cover the state prison and farm at Milledgeville. He held that the words "at Milledgeville" in the act meant "near" Milledgeville.

Decision Unanimous.
The contention that the passage of the electrocution act in 1924 repealed a provision of the constitution to the effect that sheriffs execute condemned prisoners was denied by the court. The rule that creation of executioners was left to the legislative body. The decision of the court was unanimous, all judges concurring in it.

The decision in the Howell case was written by Judge Hines and the decision in the Gore case was written by Chief Justice Richard B. Russell, and all the judges concurred in both decisions. While no ruling was made in the other cases, the decision in the Gore and Howell case affects these cases.

Governor Clifford Walker had granted respite to condemned prisoners pending a decision in the case by the supreme court. At the expiration of respite prisoners will be taken before their respective trial judges, who will resentence them and fix dates of execution.

The fate of Swain, one of the men who was granted a respite, is not entirely settled by the decision of the court as his attorney was granted the right to take his case to the United States supreme court where it now is pending.

Gore Must Go to Chair.
After Mell Gore had appealed his case to the supreme court and it had been affirmed by that body preparations were under way for his execution when his attorneys appeared before Judge J. B. Park of Greensboro, the day before the date of the scheduled execution and obtained a temporary injunction restraining the warden from executing the prisoner on the grounds that the warden was not qualified under the act of the legislature and that the act itself was unconstitutional.

The state prison commission and Solicitor General John A. Boykin, of Fulton county, represented the state in the litigation and the contents they submitted to the supreme court were upheld in every respect. Gore was convicted of complicity in the killing of W. H. Cheek along with T. E. Berry and Ruby Ray, a girl. Berry was the driver of the automobile used by Gore, Berry and Jack Wilson when they attempted to rob the Cheek store. Berry was given a life sentence and Ruby Ray was sentenced to 20 years.

Try Joint-Ease Tonight For Stiff Joints

Pharmacists Call it "Joint-Ease" Because It's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Twinging Joints.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and pain relieving agents declared to be the one remedy that starts right in to comfort swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain-racked joints. They call this wonderful preparation "Joint-Ease" because the medicinal man who turned the trick worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

"Joint-Ease" is prepared for people who have a swollen, painful, twinging or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatism, muscle, stick in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its soothing action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments.

Ask for a tube of "Joint-Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it disappears with only a few seconds' rubbing. It surely is a "lift actor" and starts right in to relieve joint troubles.

Live drug stores everywhere in the United States dispense it for about 60 cents a tube. (adv.)

Distinguished Georgians Greet Distinguished Guest

A group of prominent Georgians greeting General Luther Sibert, one of America's foremost engineers and commander of the first A. E. F. division to land in France during the world war, on his arrival Wednesday morning at the Terminal station. Left to right, they are George W. West, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; C. J. Haden, Atlanta capitalist and lifetime friend of the visitor; U. S. Senator W. J. Harris, General M. Craig, commander of the fourth corps area, and former U. S. Senator Hoke Smith.

and military feats, was taken for a motor drive to Stone Mountain and adjacent territory.

The luncheon in the chamber of commerce was attended by the largest crowd present at the weekly session in years. Henderson Hallman, chairman of the service committee, declared:

Howell was convicted in Bibb county on a charge of killing a deputy sheriff following a liquor car chase through the streets of Macon.

TWO MEN HELD IN MACON AFFECTION.

Macon, Ga., April 20.—(AP)—John Howell and James A. Swain, two of the condemned men affected by the supreme court ruling that the electrocution law is constitutional, are held in Bibb county jail.

W. A. McClellan, counsel for Howell, and W. O. Cooper, of Swain's counsel, would not say today whether they will carry the case higher. The Swain case was not directly involved in the decision. They were also silent as to further plans for the long fight both have waged to save their clients from the electric chair.

McClellan brought the first court action against the electric chair law in Houston superior court before Judge H. A. Mathews. Later his attack on the law was taken up by attorneys for Mell Gore, Atlanta barber, in Jones superior court before Judge J. B. Park, and by counsel for other condemned men.

Sometime ago the case of Swain was taken by Cooper into federal court and is now pending there.

HOWELL TO RECEIVE FOURTH SENTENCE.

Macon, Ga., April 20.—(AP)—John Howell, held in the Bibb county jail under sentence of death for the murder of Harry Green, Bibb county deputy, in May, 1925, is expected to receive his fourth sentence imposed upon him within the next two weeks. Charles H. Garrett, solicitor general of the Macon circuit, said today.

Howell is one of the 10 condemned men held in Georgia during the last several months while the Georgia supreme court passed on the constitutionality of the electrocution law of 1924.

Howell was tried in Houston superior court in June, 1925, upon a charge of murder from Bibb county. The supreme court remittitur on the decision today is expected to be returned to the Houston court at the end of 10 days, the solicitor said today. Howell will be resentenced soon after the remittitur has been returned.

"I think this will be the end of the matter," Mr. Garrett said. "Unless attorneys for the defense are able to secure some delay through habeas corpus proceedings instituted in the United States district court."

W. A. McClellan, attorney for Howell, would not state today just what action he expects to take in an effort to save the life of his client.

HOPES OF GORE FOR LIFE FADE

joke." Gore's manner was most earnest.

"No money. And it takes money to fight in the courts. What little I had has gone and there isn't much prospect for more unless . . . for a moment he was hopeful. "I can get my friends to help me. That's my only chance, to get some of my friends to give me a lift with a little money."

"Seems 'unfair,' He Says.
"Somehow it doesn't seem right, does it, this business of rich men getting away with murder by receiving prison terms, while a poor guy like me has to die when he wasn't responsible for the killing. I didn't have any murder in my heart when Wilson and I went into Mr. Cheek's store. And Mrs. Cheek was wrong when she said that I gave Wilson any signal in the store. I didn't."

Gore puffed away at a gift cigar, visibly enjoying the smoke. "Gee, I can't even afford much of these now," he said. "I've been in this place 15 months, and believe me, buddy, it's no easy thing, this waiting and waiting, all the time hoping and praying for a chance for life."

His funds are practically gone, only enough remaining to keep him in cigars and an occasional little luxury allowed prisoners, he said.

"But I'm sure my friends and sympathizers will respond if you will ask them to," he said. "I don't believe anyone wants me to die when I haven't any blood on my hands. God knows I need help now."

Gore, from his little cell on the ground floor of the tower, can look up and see the sky across the backyard of the tower. It's just a little patch of the blue, but he seems to get much comfort from this little touch with the outside world. However, he hates to think of the time within the near future when he will see plenty of that same blue again, on the way to Milledgeville for perhaps the last time.

The date for the resentencing of Gore will be set as soon as the remittitur from the supreme court is received in Fulton superior court, probably within the next two weeks, court attaches state.

SENTIMENT AGAINST REDS IS GROWING.

Shanghai, April 20.—(United News.)—While anti-radical sentiment grows among Chinese in the Shanghai district, the first alliance between nationalist Chinese and a northern warlord was reported Wednesday.

General Chiang Kai-shek, who captured Shanghai for the nationalists only to throw down the gauge of battle to the radicals within his party, agreed Wednesday to associate himself with General Sun Chuan-fang, northern general who Chiang himself drove out of the Yangtze area, according to the report.

Chiang immediately appointed his former enemy defense commissioner of northern Kiangsu province and continued plans for overthrowing the left wing of the nationalists, which is headed by Eugene Chen, nationalist foreign minister.

Headquarters of the Kuomintang (nationalist) party in Shanghai still maintain that the party will continue adherence to the policy of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the party. They will even favor friendship between Russia and the nationalists, according to local leaders, but will oppose official Russian advisers in the nationalist group.

Citizens, Southern Bank Nationalization Is Approved

Savannah, Ga., April 20.—(AP)—The stockholders of the Citizens and Southern bank at a meeting held here today unanimously ratified the action of the board of directors to make the institution a national bank, Hills B. Lane announced after the meeting today.

The name of the institution will become the Citizens and Southern National Bank of Savannah, Mr. Lane stated, and the branch banks also will carry the word "national" in their titles.

Mr. Lane said the nationalization of the bank will be completed as quickly as the necessary papers can be transmitted from the bank to the comptroller of the currency in Washington. It is believed this will take only a few days.

The changing of the Citizens and Southern bank from a state to a national bank will make the local office of this institution a national bank, the local change taking place simultaneously with that of other offices of this institution.

According to A. G. Maxwell, vice president of the Atlanta office of the Citizens and Southern bank, the change probably will be made before May 1.

The necessary papers containing resolutions of the board of directors and stockholders have to be sent to the comptroller of the currency in Washington. In the opinion of Mr. Maxwell, the forwarding of these papers and subsequent steps on the part of the comptroller will take only a few days.

Taxes are Reflected In Telephone Costs

ALTHOUGH taxes form a large part of the cost of producing telephone service, this company does not object to paying its just proportion of the taxes necessary for the support of the government, the schools and other public institutions.

We do believe that telephone subscribers who supply the money will be interested in knowing what part of the money they pay for telephone service goes for taxes in the States of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Our total tax bill in these States amounted to $4,432,018 during 1926, an increase of 355 per cent since 1916.

The taxable property of the company increased only 142 per cent during this same period.

The tax bill is an ever-increasing expense, having increased 174 per cent since 1920, while the taxable property grew 86 per cent.

Taxes in 1926 amounted to $5.48 per telephone, as compared with $2.56 in 1916, and were 8.87 per cent of the total telephone revenues, as compared with 5.90 per cent in 1916.

The combined tax and wage bill for last year reached the sum of $28,866,300, a total of $35.48 per telephone.

Although the enormous increase in these two items has been reflected in the cost of producing service, the rates charged for the service have not increased in anything like the same proportion.

To maintain a margin between gross revenue and gross expenses, under these conditions, is a problem requiring the best efforts of a skilled organization, and careful, economical management.

COLLEGE OFFICERS MEET HERE TODAY

College officials will gather here Thursday from nation wide points to attend the eighth annual convention of the deans of men's associations meeting for a three-day session at the Henry Grady hotel, at which colleges in and around Atlanta will act as hosts.

Many local educators will address the meetings, among whom are scheduled Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory university and M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech.

W. L. Sanders, of the Ohio Wesleyan college; J. A. Bursley, of the University of Michigan, and S. H. Goodnight, of the University of Wisconsin, will lecture before the opening day sessions Thursday, it was announced. Friday's schedule will include an address by M. E. Garter, of Morningside college, Sioux City, Iowa, on "Freshmen," followed by a discussion of problems confronting present day college men working their way through school, by C. R. Melcher, University of Kentucky.

Although the business to come before the meeting is its primary object, an attractive entertainment program for the visitors has been arranged, including a banquet tonight at 7 o'clock at the Henry Grady hotel, two luncheons and a motor tour of local points of interest. A special program has been planned for the women who accompanied their husbands here, one feature of which will be a luncheon Thursday given by Mrs. T. W. Fitzgerald, president of the Tech Women's club.

One of the chief aims of the college dean of today is to advise the student and guide him along lines best suited to his particular individuality, it was pointed out, and the meeting here will be devoted to a discussion of college life problems from social and economic angles.

The convention will close at noon Saturday with a luncheon at the Henry Grady hotel.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Plans for honoring the Confederate soldiers through the annual Memorial day exercises at the Confederate grounds in Oakland cemetery, Tuesday, April 26, have been completed, according to announcement Wednesday by Mrs. William A. Wright, president of the Ladies' Memorial association, in charge of the ceremonies.

Major Asa Warren Candler, commander of the local American legion post, has been appointed marshal of the day, to lead the procession and preside at the ceremonies. Dr. T. R. Kendall, Confederate veteran, was named chaplain and Dr. Lucian Lamar Knight will be orator of the day. A procession of military, school and patriotic organizations, together with the general public, has been invited to form on Peachtree street in the afternoon to march to the burial grounds, where the exercises will be held before the Confederate monument.

A prelude of sacred hymns will be presented by the band of the Georgia Power company. This will be followed by the invocation by Dr. Kendall. Major Candler will then introduce the orator, Dr. Knight. Patriotic songs, firing of military salutes, the sounding of "Taps," the benediction by Dr. Kendall and playing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the band will complete the ceremonies.

1 NEGRO DEAD; 1 HURT IN AUTO-CYCLE CRASH

Noland Freeman, negro, of 503 Larkin street, was crushed to death Wednesday when the motorcycle he was riding struck a heavy truck at the intersection of West Fair and Mildred streets, according to police. DuBose Arnold, negro, of 176 Chapin street, who was riding with Freeman, is in the Grady hospital seriously injured, while Charles Bailey, also a negro, of 21 Webster street, is being held without bail on charge of reckless driving. The motorcycle was going west on Fair street, collided with the side of the truck, which was turning east from Mildred street into Fair street, police reports show.

CHICKEN THEFT SUSPECTS CAUGHT WITH TRUCKLOAD

Olin Newborn, 19, of 801 Clement drive, and J. H. Cromley, 19, of 501 Rankin street, were the names and addresses given police Wednesday by two youths arrested on "Produce row," where, according to police, they were caught in possession of a truck load of chickens, believed to have been the property stolen from H. H. Stowe, of Gainesville, Ga., early Wednesday morning.

The youths, who were taken into custody by Lieutenant of Detectives T. B. Shaw and Detectives W. D. McGee and W. W. Ford, were also charged with stealing and wrecking the touring car owned by Dr. Troy Hixings, Atlanta physician. Detectives were led to suspect this when one of the youths displayed a broken arm.

FORD PURCHASES OLD ASSEMBLY PLANTS

New York, April 20.—(AP)—Repurchase by the Ford Motor company of its former assembling plant at Long Island City from William C. Durant was interpreted by the New York Times today as a possible forerunner of important new activities of the Ford company.

The company still retains its large assembling plant at Kearney, N. J., Gaston Plantiff. Ford's eastern representative, declined to explain the purpose of the purchase. The building is an eight-story reinforced concrete structure. During the war it was used for the manufacture of gas masks and after the armistice it was used for the storage of war materials.

Ford sold the property to the Good-year Tire and Rubber company in 1920. It was subsequently resold to Durant. Reports placed the present selling value of the property at approximately $3,000,000.

Italy Startles the World!

Creates "a government for the People" — without Democracy!

THE amazed eyes of the world are turned on Italy. From the cradle of the Roman Empire, the voice of Mussolini rings out "Democracy is a failure!"—and before the echoes of the Great War are stilled, Italy creates a form of state entirely new in modern civilization, a state as autocratic as the rule of the Caesars but dedicated to the people—a popular government without Democracy!

And at once Italy springs forward to a new power, summoning the words and spirit of her ancient past to weld a national purpose, striving with the zeal of a holy cause to forge a future of strength and prestige among the world powers. A strong Italy, resolute, hard-working, determined to use every resource nature has given her, and to demand the respect of the nations.

Italy—past, present and future—lies spread before you in the Special Italian Number of The Literary Digest, the most complete view ever presented between the covers of a magazine. The drama of Mussolini, the astounding rise of Fascism, the Italy of today as the tourist, the statesmen, the bankers see her; the new life she leads and the art and literature which express that life—all this and much more presented with absolute fairness to all aspects of the most startling epic of modern times!

SPOTS IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, April 20.—Spot cotton closed steady, 18 points up, at 14.80; middling, 15.30; receipts, 7,341; stock, 554,943.

New York, April 20.—(P)—Renewal of buying on the Mississippi valley flood news and prospects for unsettled weather with showers and lower temperatures in the western belt, furthered the cotton market today. Prices touched new high ground, with the close within a point or two of the best. Further overflows were reported in Arkansas, and there were reports that some of the levees in Mississippi were in danger.

Exports today 15,734 making 9,399, 550 so far this season. Port receipts 18,290. U. S. port stocks 2,189,086.

18 TO 22 POINTS GAINS ARE REPORTED.

New Orleans, April 20.—(P)—Cotton prices were upward during the day, with the market starting low and widening later after a brief setback of 1 or 2 points. A more serious view of crop damage by the floods across the Mississippi valley, and later deliveries making new highs for the life of the contracts on covering by recent sellers and a broadening speculative demand. Just before the close, the market was up 18 to 22 points, the highest since March, and the decline to 13.75 early in March, and closing at 14.70, the general market moved very steadily, at net advances of 18 to 20 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 5 points, and fluctuated within a range of 5 or 6 points during the greater part of the morning.

The weekly report of the weather bureau emphasized the recent rains and the floods in Arkansas, but seemed to be no more unfavorable than expected, and had little, if any immediate effect on the market.

Every department of Crucible Steel Corporation had record production in March. The highest rate for any month since 1920 was reached today by Horace Wilkins, president, the month's net was 100,000 tons, which would mean a record for the company, which has been producing since 1900, and as equally a good outlook for the steel industry this year as in 1926.

Profit of Texas Pacific Coal & Oil for the first quarter declined to $663,000, from $774,522 in the first quarter last year. J. R. Penn, president, was elected to the new position of chairman of the executive committee. Edgar J. Marston, vice president, was made president.

Joseph Mining of Nevada reports net profit of $210,274 for 1926, against $202,865 surplus after dividends was $96,254 against $142,863 the year before.

PRICES ON CURB GENERALLY HIGHER

New York, April 20.—(P)—Prices in the curb market today worked generally higher under the leadership of a few public utility, pipe line and specialty shares. Soft spots were comparatively few, for the most part due to profit-taking on recently active issues.

American Light and Traction, stimulated by the proposal for a 50 per cent stock dividend, jumped 18 points to a new high at 255, and a few other utility shares advanced in sympathy, including American Gas and Electric and United Light and Power. The last named, however, underwent heavy selling late in the day and closed around yesterday's final figure.

Illinois Pipe Line and Prairie Pipe Line, advanced three to six points respectively, reached new peak prices. Oil shares, however, were inclined to heaviness, with Vacuum under particularly heavy pressure.

Sugar issues continued to reflect optimism in the industry. National Sugar rising 4 points to a new peak. Remington Noisless Typewriter also bettered its previous price, after gaining 4 points. Substantial advances were scored by General Baking A, Davenport Hosiery, Todd Shipyard and Western Maryland first preferred, the last name establishing a new record price.

Lackawanna Securities yielded slightly to profit taking after an early advance. Other outstanding soft spots included National Fireproofing which fell to a new low, Palm Olive, Esprit Welte A, United Biscuit B and Tubize Artificial Silk.

News From Wall Street and New York Editorial Comment (By Fenner & Beane Leased Wire to The Constitution)

STOCK OPINIONS.

Fenner & Beane Market in need of a reaction. Would only buy first-grade gains.

Price & Whately: Anticipate further gains in the near future. Clark Childs & Co.: The street seems to have overcome its pessimism in some of the oil.

Horshower & Weeks: The market demonstrated its ability to absorb selling in a remarkable fashion. F. R. Ketch & Co.: Look for a continuation of the upward movement in specialties for some time to come.

WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Today's trading was characterized by one of the broadest and most impressive demonstrations of strength and confidence during the current phase of the bull market. Operations for the rise embraced the market, oil shares, copper, department store, and mail order stocks, rubbers, sugar and rails.

NEW YORK SUN.

Money was not quite abundant enough to cause any outside shading of the stock market. The rate of a per cent and most stocks continued to surge forward, 20 or 30 points higher in April.

Home-Grown Potatoes Due On Market in Few Weeks

The Red Bliss potato, which has a pink color, is by far the best seller on the local market of the home grown varieties, according to Ewing. Its taste is superior, but owing to the fact that it is not a prolific variety, it is not grown to as great an extent as some of the other varieties.

There are also several varieties which are planted in July and which come to market in the fall that are proving good sellers. North Georgia has furnished the local market a plentiful supply of these fall potatoes in recent years. Only last fall, according to Ewing, the Atlanta municipal market was supplied with several truck loads from this section of the state.

One advantage the fall variety has over the spring crop is that the dreaded potato bug does far less damage to it.

New York, April 20.—(P)—The stock market turned irregular today after an opening outburst of strength. Buying was of a very selective character, with some sharp gains being recorded by a few rail, mercantile, oil, food and railroad equipment shares.

Total sales again crossed the 2,000,000 mark, with some rail and large blocks changing hands in the early trading.

Easy money rates continued to exert a bullish influence on the market. Business news was rather unimportant. The quarterly reports of the republic and Youngstown steel companies, which compared unfavorably with those of the corresponding period last year, and the less optimistic weekly steel trade reviews brought some selling into the steel shares. Gulf States breaking early 5 points.

Youngstown 2-3-8, Republic 1-3-8 and U. S. Steel common, Bethlehem and Ludlum yielding fractionally. On the other hand, Colorado Fuel crossed 84, with the high price of 1902, and Crucible showed a net gain of nearly 2 points.

Although Hudson Motors showed a substantial gain in first quarter earnings over last year, the report appeared to have been discounted as the stock closed fractionally lower at 75.34 on profit-taking. Hupp, which made an unfavorable comparison with the first quarter last year, sold down to a new low at 19.12 and heaviness also developed in Mack Trucks, Dodge Brothers, Chrysler, Pierce Arrow preferred, Jordan and White, the losses in most cases being small.

General Motors touched a new peak at 188 7/8, but lost all the day's gain. New York department store stocks, such as R. H. Macy, Abraham & Straus, and Bloomingdale's, all showed sharp gains, and sold around the year's highest prices on reports of record-breaking Easter business. The renewed advance in Kelly-Springfield to a new high at 27.12 revived rumors of an early increase in tire prices. Among the scores or so other issues were break into new high ground were Woolworth, Coca-Cola, Jewel Tea, South Porto Rican Sugar, International Business Machines, Otis Elevator, International Telephone, United Drug, Allis Chalmers, Remington Typewriter, Knickerbocker, Reynolds Tobacco, International Silver and International Shoe.

Buying of the rails was stimulated by the publication of a favorable traffic report, and rumors of early dividend action on Texas & Pacific common, which soared 6 points to a new high at 81.14 and then slid back to 79. St. Louis-Southwestern, Missouri Pacific common preferred, Chicago and Eastern Illinois common and preferred, Lehigh Valley and Atchafalaya preferred, also at their highest prices since 1925, or longer.

Cotton rallied 18 to 20 points on buying influenced by growing apprehension regarding crop damage by recent rains and floods. Wheat prices sagged slightly, and the other principal commodity markets showed little change.

Establishment of a new high record by Italian linen about 5.05, featured the firm foreign exchange market. Demand sterling rates steady around $4.85-16 and French francs just above 3.91 cents.

Wright-Jackson Wedding Is Brilliant Event in Augusta

Augusta, Ga., April 20.—The Church of the Good Shepherd was the scene last evening of one of the most brilliant and interesting weddings ever seen in the city, when Miss Constance Cabell Wright and Elbert McGinn Jackson were united in marriage. Rev. Hobart Barber performed the ceremony.

Green and white formed the color motif in the church decorations. Marking the aisleway down which the bride passed were tall ivory candles attached to each pew end, every alternate one adorned with clusters of Easter lilies, and extending the length of the church, overhead, were garlands of southern holly. The altar was banked with palms of varying heights and many tall floor vases filled with stately Easter lilies.

While the wedding guests were assembling a program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. J. Hardwick Jackson, at the organ; Edward Purnaro, harp; Tony Purnaro, flute, and James Purnaro, violin.

First came the ushers, James Fraser Hillman, of Pittsburgh; Boykin Cabell Wright, of New York; William Henry Jackson, of New York; Jacob Lowery, Martin Cozart, Cornelius Fleming, Creighton Allen, New York, and Henry C. Wagstaff, Jr., of Atlanta.

Wedding Party.

The bridesmaids entered in pairs as follows: Mrs. Billups Dunbar and Mrs. William D. Ellis, II, of Atlanta; Miss Margaret McGowan and Miss Louise Hankinson, Miss Carrie Lou Reynolds and Miss Marjorie Weldon, both of Atlanta. The bridesmaids' costumes were similarly fashioned of cloth of silver or cloth of gold, alternately, and lined with pink georgette. The bridesmaids wore in lace effect, the full skirts of double scallops adorned with large roses of the gold or silver cloth and pink georgette. A bow of cloth of gold or silver adorned each left shoulder. In lieu of the conventional bouquet, each bridesmaid carried a fan of ostrich, embossed in gold with a Spanish comb, fashioned of pearls in fan shape, with a cluster of leafless orange blossoms at each side. Her bouquet was an armful of American Beauty roses, showered with silver ribbons.

Later in the evening the bride's wedding robe was changed for a smart traveling gown in reseda green, a two-piece model, the blouse of crepe Elizabeth, embroidered in threads of gold; the skirt of Shetland wool. Her hat was a small model of green chiffon felt, with trimming of green embroidery in darker tone. A top-coat of the same shade of green, with beige fox fur, completed the becoming toilette.

Following the ceremony, a brilliant reception was held at the Augusta Country club. The bride's table was overlaid with a cloth of gold-yellow satin, veiled with tulle, the central decoration being a bowl of Pernet roses, with smaller bowls of the roses placed at each end.

The artistic place cards, designed by the groom, were artists' painted made of satin wood. Other than the members of the wedding party, there were seated at the bride's table Mrs. Boykin Cabell Wright, Mrs. John D. Lottier, Mrs. William E. Jackson, Mrs. Edgar Miller, Mrs. Llewellyn Doughty, Mrs. W. M. Butt, Mrs. Lewis Butt, Mrs. J. B. Chesnut and Mrs. Robert Clark.

Prominent Families.

Mrs. Jackson, as Miss Constance Wright, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boykin Wright, is a representative of southern culture and beauty, being of a pronounced brunette type, and a social favorite of unusual graciousness and charm. She received her education at French House, an exclusive school for girls in New York.

Mr. Jackson, although he has resided in New York for some years, is a representative of several of Georgia's distinguished families. His mother was Crowella Doughty, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. M. Doughty, of Augusta. His late father, William E. Jackson, was a member of one of Georgia's prominent families. He is an honor graduate of Georgia Tech and studied painting under Goldbeck, devoting much time to modeling in the Beaux Arts institute of New York. Of recent years he has turned to commercial art, ranking at present as one of the outstanding artists of America. The lovely home, Douglas Manor, Long Island, in which he and his bride will reside upon their return from a wedding journey of six weeks, was designed by himself, as were also the interior decorations and the furniture.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Boykin Wright, wore a costume of orchid, embroidered in brilliant and fashioned with long panel train. Her flowers were a corsage of orchids and valley lilies.

Mrs. William M. Jackson, of New York, the groom's mother, wore a costume of white satin with pearls and lilies.

Mrs. Boykin Cabell Wright, of New York, was crowned in white crepe, embroidered in crystal beads, and a corsage bouquet of orchids.

Mrs. Llewellyn Doughty, aunt of the groom, wore a costume of pink roses and orchids.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wagstaff, Jr., of Atlanta; Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gamble Doughty, of Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Miller, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Tate Wright, of Athens; Spencer Comerat, Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. Remond, Richmond, Va., and Mrs. Frank Weldon, Atlanta.

BRITISH-ITALIAN

PACT THREATENED

OVER JUGO-SLAVIA

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

London, April 20.—The entente which had grown up between Italy and Britain is threatened with dissolution on account of Premier Mussolini's attitude toward trouble with Jugo-Slavia and his persistent refusal to allow the matter to be handled by the League of Nations.

The British foreign secretary has been urging this course in the interests of peace and on April 2 the British ambassador at Rome presented a note to Premier Mussolini urging peaceful solution. The ambassador was met by an outburst of temper in the presence of an official diplomatic corps, which was bitterly resented in London.

The Tribune learns that it is probable in the end, that Premier Mussolini will be compelled to accept a league intervention and the league officials already have begun to study the situation.

London, April 20.—The entente which had grown up between Italy and Britain is threatened with dissolution on account of Premier Mussolini's attitude toward trouble with Jugo-Slavia and his persistent refusal to allow the matter to be handled by the League of Nations.

The British foreign secretary has been urging this course in the interests of peace and on April 2 the British ambassador at Rome presented a note to Premier Mussolini urging peaceful solution. The ambassador was met by an outburst of temper in the presence of an official diplomatic corps, which was bitterly resented in London.

The Tribune learns that it is probable in the end, that Premier Mussolini will be compelled to accept a league intervention and the league officials already have begun to study the situation.

Sophy Tancred's Husbands

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER.

SYNOPSIS.

Sophy and Piers Tancred have lately taken the Villa Mona at Brodighera on the Italian Riviera. Sophy learns that her former husband, Alan Brooke, the sculptor, is living nearby and that they are to meet at a dinner that night. She is afraid of her husband's jealousy and, since he thought she was a widow when he married her, she goes to Brooke's studio to warn him against telling Piers that they had been married. Alan tells Sophy that his housekeeper, Cristina, is really his wife and they have a little son who lives with Cristina's parents. Willie Moppet, a male gossip of Brodighera, interrupts them and Sophy flies to the Villa Mona in fear.

At dinner that night Alan and Sophy meet as if for the first time, but the Princess Doblbert greets Sophy as Mrs. Brooke, recalling their studio days in Paris. Piers tells the princess she is mistaken. Sophy is his wife, not Alan's.

On returning from the dinner party, Alan learns that there is a serious epidemic at Pergada, where his son is living. Cristina takes the early morning train from Brodighera.

INSTALLMENT X.

Piers' jealousy is aroused. This morning some imp of perversity prompted Piers to wait and let Sophy mention Alan Brooke's name.

"What's the program for today?" he asked while Sophy reset her ruffled shingle.

"I'm due at the tennis club at 10," she replied irritably.

"Moppet?" Piers asked.

Sophy shrugged her shoulders. She was going to have trouble with Piers over Mr. Moppet.

"Yes, I'm playing with him in the mixed doubles this morning."

"I wonder if you are," commented Piers.

Sophy turned around and looked at him. "If you've decided that I'm not to, then you'd better ring Mr. Moppet up and tell him so," she said. Then her irritation burst forth. Her nerves were all on edge and she lost control of herself for a moment.

"You think you own me," she stormed. "The petty tyranny, this eternal tormenting! I can't be civil to a man—no matter who he is—without your making hideous suggestions. I'm sick to death of it. What do you imagine my life is like? But, of course, it isn't in you to consider anybody but yourself, and my feelings, least of all. You're always spying and watching me. I tell you, I—I won't stand it any longer."

"What'll you do?" Piers asked.

"I'll leave you—that's what I'll do," she said, greatly daring.

"Oh no, I don't think so."

He dropped his cigarette on to the floor and crunched it with his heel as viciously as though it were the viper that had so startled him.

Sophy got up, trembling with anger. "How—how dare you do a thing like that in my room!" she cried.

"You know how I hate you!" he said. Piers got up, too, and she covered away from him. He was so big and dark and menacing.

"I'll do as I please, in your room or anywhere else in my own house. Show me that letter you got from Brooke."

This was so sudden and so unexpected that she sent a throbbing to her throat, and she put up her hands to ease it, swaying in front of him, pale as death. Useless to query, "What letter?" And he hadn't even led up to the subject by clumsy feelers which would have warned her. Instead he had drawn Willie Moppet as a red herring across the trail.

"Don't play with me, my girl. Out with it. Tucked it away somewhere in your clothes, I'll be bound."

She found her voice then. "Don't touch me. I'll scream if you touch me."

"Scream, then."

But she didn't. She had always known that when it came to the point Piers would beat her, for he had no reserves. He wouldn't have cared an atom if she had screamed her head off and brought the whole household running. He would simply have booted them out; he cared nothing for the surface amenities of life. With his heavy hands on her, Sophy gave up limply and delivered over the crumpled envelope from the lares of her breast.

"There," she panted. "There—take it."

Piers released her with a hissing sigh of satisfaction. It was curious how eager he seemed, how his bulged as though in the prospect of some frenzied delight, when what he obviously sought was confirmation of his worst fears. Did he really wish to be driven mad by jealousy?

Presently Piers looked up, abashed; there was even a glimmer of contrition in his bulging eyes.

"What'd you want to make all this fuss for?" he asked.

"There was nothing in that note which could possibly have offended the most suspicious of jealous husbands."

bands, for Alan, after one wild impulse to pour forth his feelings, had been checked by caution. Sophy would understand all about his feelings, even though he addressed her as "My dear Mrs. Tancred," and signed him, "Sincerely yours, Alan Brooke." In between it was as he had stated to Piers, that he had been called away for a few days, but hoped to show her and her husband his studio when he returned. That was all, and it amounted to a beggarly nothing. However, there was the fact that Sophy had tried to suppress it and had given it an intimate hiding place.

"Why didn't you want to show this to me?"

"Because I know what you're like," Sophy said coldly. "You might—"

she was venturing on thin ice, now—"

"I've pitched upon Mr. Brooke to be jealous of. Hadn't you better ring up Mr. Moppet and tell him you won't let me play tennis this morning?"

"All right; you win," Piers granted her. "I'm jealous and not ashamed of it. I've got you. That's my trouble. You told me as much before I'd coaxed you to marry me. You told me I was just buying you. Well, by gosh, I've bought you, and I'll damn well keep my eye on you."

"May I ring for Agnes now?" Sophy asked coldly.

"Kiss me first. Say you love me. Say it, whether it's true or not. I want to hear you say it."

She shook her head and tried to draw away from him, but he gripped her shoulders, making her wince when unconsciously his fingers pressed upon that bruised spot.

"Kiss me—say you love me," he commanded.

Dumbly she shook her head again, for the lie would not come—the hardest lie on earth for any woman to tell. It was for no scruple, Sophy would have lied if only to get rid of him so cheaply, but it stuck in her throat and nearly choked her to death.

"You spiteful little devil! I know you. You're trying to punish me. Since you won't kiss me, I'll kiss you. He kissed her until, gasping, she tore herself away and pressed the bell for Agnes. Unthinking, she kept her thumb stuck on the bell push after Piers had left the room.

He went out with a swaggering air, but somehow it also conveyed the idea of slinking.

Had he really beaten her, after all?

If you go down the hill, past the turning which leads to the cemetery, and along the dusty and rather uninteresting stretch of the Lower Corniche, where John Ruffini's Dr. Antonio chanced upon the overturned coach of the English aristocrats, you will find somewhere on the left a cobbled mile-path with a little discolored sign announcing that this is the way to Goldiroli. It is also a back way to Ospedaletti and San Remo, and a short cut from Brodighera to the crumbling castello where dwelt that decayed but very noble lady, the Princess Doblbert.

For several days Lilla Brant had let the princess rest in peace, since Willie Moppet's time was to be fully accounted for on the tennis courts, and the old lady did not receive even intimate friends in the evenings.

Moreover, rumor had it that the princess had caught a cold the night of Willie's dinner party and in consequence had cut her usual "at home" day. Her household consisted chiefly of a dragon of an English maid almost as old as herself, and—less important—her unmarried daughter, politely referred to as a chronic invalid, but known to be a little touched in the head. In addition there was a servant, or perhaps even two.

Tune In On This-- Mary Browne Barred

Golf Association Says Fair Net and Links Star's Act Detrimental to Amateurs' Interest.

New York, April 20.—(United News)—Mary K. Browne, who turned professional, has lost her amateur standing with the United States Golf Association.

The executive committee adopted a resolution Wednesday declaring that Miss Browne has acted in a manner detrimental to the best interests and true spirit of golf by capitalizing her skill as an amateur.

In addition to barring Mary Browne, the only other action taken in the case of an individual player was the reinstatement as an amateur of Jack C. Stinson, of the Lido Golf club.

Although declaring Miss Browne to be ineligible has the same effect as declaring that she is a professional, the association phrased its resolution delicately, apparently in deference to her popularity as a sportswoman.

The committee's announcement also explained that it had been the desire of the association to conduct one of the championships on the west coast.

"Under ordinary conditions," the statement said, "it is likely that the amateur championship of 1928 would have been held either at San Francisco or Los Angeles."

"The association, though, realizes that there will be a British Walker cup team in this country next year and if the championships were held on the Pacific coast at that time, it would mean likely that the members of the British team would be unable to take part in the championship."

The committee has now definitely decided that subject to making of necessary transportation, the amateur championship of 1929 will be held on the Pacific coast.

The committee did not deal with the question of allowing the traveling expenses of golf teams to be paid, the matter having been disposed of at the annual meeting in Pittsburgh in January.

"I EXPECTED IT," SAYS MARY K. BROWNE.

Cleveland, April 20.—(United News)—"Oh, well, there's no use crying over spilt milk," said Mary K. Browne when informed of the action of the United States Golf Association declaring her ineligible for amateur golfing competition in this country.

The association's action was based upon the fact that Miss Browne became a professional tennis player last year.

"I would rather be known as a good sport than as a world champion at golf," said Mary, who is the only woman tennis star ever to reach the finals of the American national golf championship.

"Although they won't let me play, I'll always take an enthusiastic interest in amateur golf," she added. "The action of the U. S. G. A. wasn't unexpected."

Miss Browne has joined the Kirkland Golf club here and expects to play a lot of golf during the season.

FLORIDA STATE LEAGUE BEGINS GRIND TODAY

Orlando, Fla., April 20.—(AP)—Baseball teams in the Florida State league will swing into action tomorrow afternoon in the start of the 1927 pennant chase with every indication pointing to one of the most successful seasons in the history of the Sunshine loop. President J. B. Asher, of the league, declared tonight.

Record crowds for the opening games are expected to be on hand to enable the various cities to compete for the handsome attendance trophy offered by President Asher for the largest per capita attendance on the opening day. Play tomorrow will find the 1926 champion Celery Peds in Orlando; Tampa in St. Petersburg; and Sarasota in Miami. All clubs completed their training early this week with the exception of Miami, the newcomer of the league, while reports from that city to league headquarters here indicate that the Miami entry will be ready for the campaign opening tomorrow.

Crackers Win Last Game of Series From Barons, 11 to 3

Those Vols Furnish Opposition for Today

Mule Haas Gets Two Doubles, a Triple, and a Single Out of Five Times at Bat.

BY TOM THOMPSON.

IT SEEMS there were a couple of mules, one called white and another called Haas. While "Mule" Haas was kicking the ball for heaveup extra bases Wednesday afternoon, White Mule was doing a very different kind of kicking, but both scored decisive victories and so did Atlanta's Crackers. The latter mentioned quantity set a 1927 precedent by sequestering the Birmingham Barons by the very remarkable score of 11-3.

This "Mule" Haas hee-hawed Van Alstyne derivative in four times at the plate against the Barons starter kicked out four hits that went for a base total of ten. Totalling his performance for the past two days it shows that he has kicked seven safeties in 10 times up, and garnered a total base of 15 with three triples, two doubles and two singles. The "Mule" himself admits that it has been a long time since he has kicked so hard.

Today those Vols, whose habitat, for purpose of identification, is Nashville will furnish the opposition, whatever it is, for the Crackers and Ray Francis is scheduled to operate on the mound. Listed on the player roster of the Volunteers is one Fred Johnson, a right sizer, who will be remembered long and justly as the best pitcher a one-hit game against one of the league's strongest slugging machines, the Crackers. It was the second performance of the season. Well, he is likely to twirl just any day now, right out at Spiller's million-dollar deal.

The error columns show no increase in errors by the Barons over the second game of this Barons series, both having three. But despite this, the Barons were slightly wilder Wednesday afternoon, and therein lies the explanation of several Cracker tallies. Add to the list of unusuals, in which the Cracker win, Haas' fine percentage and other things are tabulated, something else that is no less than strange.

This occurrence came in the fatal seventh when, after the Crackers had scored three of the seven runs that came in that frame, Ruel Love, the gawky Goliath, slammed a three-sacker into right center with the bases drunk.

Frank Welch forecast that he would soon return to the lineup by hitting for Markle in the sixth, but Frank drew a pass and Fowler carried on the sprint work.

Rhief Still Missing. Bill Rhief was out of the lineup again. He will probably be in today. The misinformation spree regarding Rhief was not very carefully explained, but somebody didn't do something or other and so President Martin failed to even take notice of his suspension.

Ancient the Barons error snipes, it was Van Alstyne's wild toss to the plate that allowed Gilbert to score in the sixth, and it was Doc Baird's miscue that allowed this same Gilbert to score in the seventh when his low toss to first gave safety to Kohlhecker. Had his fling been one foot higher, Atlanta would have tallied only twice in that frame, for the inning would have ended.

Running time to scheduled form, the score was knotted this time in the sixth, three all. Haas doubled in the first with Zoeller on for a tally. Schepner walked, Baird sacrificed him to second, he was held on third on Gilbert's miscue that allowed this same Gilbert to score in the seventh when his low toss to first gave safety to Kohlhecker. Had his fling been one foot higher, Atlanta would have tallied only twice in that frame, for the inning would have ended.

Barons Score Two. Four singles in a row by Yargan, Schepner, Baird and Gillis in the second produced two tallies for the invaders. Haas opened the sixth's second side with a double, and counted on Gilbert's single. Bert singled and Gilbert went to third on Schwab's charity tap to Van Alstyne. From whence he came home when Van Alstyne intended pitched ball to the net.

Zoeller began the seventh with a

SPEAKER SIGNED CONTRACT

LIKED GRIFFITH AND ACCEPTED HIS OFFER OF JOB WITHOUT CONSIDERING PAY

Tris Speaker at the height of his career as manager of the Cleveland Indians conferring with the officials just before a game with the Cleveland Indians. Inset, Tris with Mrs. Dunn, owner of the Cleveland Indians.

There is something in life besides money.

At that time my last consideration was the salary. I wanted to get before the fans once more.

I wish to deny I bargained with the New York Yankees before signing with the Senators. I bargained with no one.

I cannot say too many kind things about Clark Griffith and Stanley Harris, the manager of the Senators. Take Bucky—I can imagine how he felt when I was signed. I told him I was one of his players, taking orders the same as all of the boys and that's the way I am going to play for Harris as long as I run with the club.

O. K. With Bucky.

When I reported in the spring they knew I did not think it was a good idea for me to jump out at the start and play regularly in all of the exhibition games. I'm not as young as I used to be.

Harris told me to use my own judgment in getting in shape. Whatever I did was acceptable to Bucky and Griffith. I only hope I can help them win this year's pennant.

The day's events include: 25, 75 and 100-yard dashes for boys of all ages; 150 and 220-yard dashes for older boys; 100, 200 and 400-yard relays for boys of all ages; running broad jump and running high jump for boys of all ages; shot put for older boys; pole vault for older boys; chin-up bar, sack race, three-leg race, egg race and potato race for boys and girls of all ages; 50 and 75-yard relays for younger girls; 100, 200 and 300-yard relays for girls of all ages.

Scarf Pin Stolen.

O. W. Porter, of 241 Peachtree avenue, reported Wednesday to police that a platinum diamond scarf pin, set with four small and one large stones, had been stolen.

LYLE ENTERS COUNCIL RACE FROM ELEVENTH

George Lyle, for the past 20 years a resident of the eleventh ward, Wednesday paid his entrance fee for the most coveted council seat, Leo Souders, who will not offer for reelection.

Mr. Lyle declared he had entered the race after the solicitation of numerous friends, and thus forces a triangular struggle for the post from the eleventh, Earl Carman and O. P. Walton having offered previously.

He was followed by Bishop Candler, president of the Southern Methodist hospital board, on "The Future of Methodist Hospitalization."

The place of meeting for next year was announced as St. Louis, Mo., the home of Barnes Memorial hospital.

Point Barrow, Alaska, April 20.—(By Radio to The American Newspaper Alliance.)—Captain George Hubert Wilkins and his pilot, Ben Eilson, are safe and on their way home after a 70-mile trek across the ice from where their plane failed them March 29.

This news was brought to the explorer's base here today by dog team from Beechy Point, which Captain Wilkins reached on April 14. Eilson's fingers were frozen on the trip back, but not seriously, Wilkins said.

phy's only bit of the day came then, and it was a triple.

The Other Mule.

Regarding the first mentioned white mule, well, one of the spectators discovered amid much choking and heaving that there is another variety of mule, mostly found in bottles, that contains almost as much kick as "Mule" Haas.

FULTON SCHOOLS READY FOR MEET

With only one day left before the first field and track meet ever held between the 38 schools of the Fulton county school system, principals and students today will put on the final touches and take final workouts before the meet slated to begin at 10 o'clock Friday morning at Lakewood amusement park.

J. Oscar Mills, secretary of the Southeastern Furl association, owners and operators of Lakewood, announced Wednesday night that everything is ready for the 10,000 youngsters who will participate in the events.

Trucks have been marked off and distances posted so that every facility will be ready to welcome the students of the south's most famous playground. The association has turned over free of any charge the entire field and the public has been invited to sit in the stadium and watch the proceedings.

Jerre Wells, superintendent of Fulton schools, and his official executive force will be on hand. Mr. Wells will distribute more than $500 worth of prizes to winners in the contests.

Events will be under the direct supervision of R. L. Ramsey, supervisor of Fulton county schools, who declared that while the contests are the first ever held in this county, they are expected to be the biggest meet of its kind ever held in Georgia.
